

Ladies

Do you want a pure, blooming complexion? If so, a few applications of Hagan's MAGNOLIA BALM will gratify you to your heart's content. It does away with sallowness, redness, pimples, blotches, and all diseases and imperfections of the skin. It overcomes the flushed appearance of heat, fatigue and excitement. It makes a lady of THIRTY appear but TWENTY; and so natural, gradual, and perfect are its effects, that it is impossible to detect its application.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1879.

THE CURATE'S SWEETHEART.

"A young woman with a pleasing face,

who rarely smiles, and seems to shun observation, and an old lady who comes out very little and always veiled."

This was the description given to the Rev. Charles Grosvenor of the little cottage which lay so close to his vicarage that he could see the smoke from the chimney over the tops of the trees that skirted his lawn.

The Rev. Charles Grosvenor had been away from the scene of his labors at Chumleigh for about two months. Chum-leigh was countryed enough and healthy, enough, but he had been ordered sea air and had taken the trip, leaving his by no means extensive flock to the care of a temperary shepherd.

The Rev. Charles Grosvenor was a young man, and Chumleigh was his first living.

He was quite new enough to his work to take an interest in it, and he was on intimate terms with all his parishioners.

Directly he heard of the new arrivals in the village, he of course determined to call upon them, but he thought he would just inquire what kind of people they were.

"The result was the above description,"

a description vague enough in all conscience, and yet sufficient at once to invest the heroines of it with a slight halo of romance.

The Rev. Charles Grosvenor had not so long left college life to bury himself among the pumpkins, but that he could duly appreciate the piquancy which a little mystery lends to our ordinary humdrum existence.

Knowing that the young lady shunned observation, his curiosity was at once aroused, and he looked forward to his first meeting with her with more than ordinary curiosity. As to the old lady—well, he was a young bachelor, remember; and however deeply old ladies may veil their features, or however mysterious they may be, they cannot expect to command much attention when there is a young lady in the case.

The curate called at Laburnum cottage

the day after his return from the seaside.

He found the Smiths very quiet and unassuming people. Mrs. Smith said very little and sighed a good deal, and Miss Smith, though a fluent and agreeable speaker, as he could judge from the little she said, spoke only in answer to his questions, and kept her eyes fixed on the ground the whole time that he was talking to her.

"Something queer about these people,"

said the Rev. Charles Grosvenor to himself.

for you made me such an offer you should have ascertained to whom you were speaking."

"What do you mean?"

"You do not know who or what I am."

"I know that you are an angel."

Mrs. Smith's lip curled slightly, but her voice trembled as she answered:

"As you have gone so far it is only right you should know something about me. My name is not Smith. That is a false name."

"A false name?" the parson gasped.

"Dear me! why do you want a false

name?"

"Listen, and I will tell you. Did you ever hear of a terrible crime for which two men and two women were condemned to death? It was called a 'mystery' at first.

But when the facts came to light it was called a 'murder.' One man starved his wife to death, and the other people helped him. He wanted to marry a younger woman, and this younger woman was one of the accused."

"I remember the case," stammered the curate. "It was very awful; but I don't see what you've got to do with it."

The parson spoke on his brow, and he began to mop it with a pocket-handkerchief. He half expected to hear that Miss Smith was a relative of one of the criminals.

"You remember," continued the girl, speaking rapidly now and without emotion, "that all four were condemned to death, but the young girl was at the last moment granted a free pardon, and allowed to return to the world and her friends."

"Yes," gasped the clergyman, "I remember, but what has all this business to do with you?"

"This," answered the lady whom he had just made an offer of marriage; "I was the girl that allowed the murdered woman's husband to love me—I was the girl for whose sake the murder was committed—I was the girl who was condemned to be hanged by the neck and then granted a free pardon! I am—"

She stopped. The Rev. Charles Grosvenor had reeled back against the stile and closed his eyes.

"Excuse me," he muttered; "a little fatigue, that's all."

He pulled himself together, stammered a little, coughed, and for a minute seemed at a loss what to say.

She broke the silence first.

"I have told you now the secret of my life. I am here with my mother, and here to remain—unknown, forgotten, by the world. We are bound to live under an assumed name. We should be hooted and BRIEFLETS.

—Scrub up for Sunday.
—The turkeys are not having so fat a thing of it as they thought, for it costs them their lives.
—The topic for the song and praise service at the First Methodist church to-night is "The Glorified Savior."

—The Rock County Bible Society is to meet at the First Methodist church at 3 o'clock to-morrow afternoon to elect officers.
—Rev. H. M. Simmons, of Madison, arrived in the city this afternoon, and will occupy the pulpit at All Souls church to-morrow morning.

—Miss Heise, who was so badly injured yesterday, passed a restless night, and today complains of great pain in her neck and head, but her condition is looked upon as favorable for recovery.

—Mr. Vernon Tichnor, of Waukesha, one of the oldest and most successful lawyers of that place, and a man whom all delight to honor, was in the city to-day, attending to some legal business.

—There are now over 700 miles of continuous railway from Milwaukee on the Prairie du Chien division of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway. Now, young man, you can go West, if you want to.

—Last evening a man named Jacob Schneider was arrested for smashing, with a cane, a window in the American house. Schneider said he slipped and fell against the window, but as the broken window pane was high up, the only way the officers could reconcile the statements was that Schneider must have slipped up, if he slipped at all.

—Dillon is coming. He will be here Monday night, at the Opera house. A strong company will support him. The play is a rattling good one, and crowded full of fun—so all say who have heard it. Dillon, even with his old plays, always draws well here, and with this new one, he ought to have a big crowd. Tickets are for sale at Moseley's, and reserved seats can be had there.

—A pleasant note from the Captain of the Janesville Guards, Capt. H. A. Smith, thanks THE GAZETTE for the kind words said of the company, and winds up by saying, "We propose to elect you an honorary member of the company at the next regular meeting." Well, my gracious! But hold on, boys. Let us understand each other. As we understand it an honorary member can attend dances, and be proud of his company, and all that, and you furnish him a girl to dance with, but if a war breaks out he can go to Canada. Eh? If you want such a patriot, put us on your list and notify us when you form one for a quadrille.—Peck's Sun.

—Prof. R. L. Cumneck, of the Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, and who is widely known throughout the country as one of the best elocutionists now living, is to give an evening's entertainment at Cannon's hall next Monday evening. His readings, when he appeared before in this city, were so heartily enjoyed that he will doubtless be greeted by a large audience. His "Georgia Sermon" of itself is one of the most laugh-inspiring pieces ever listened to, and if he gave nothing else this would of itself more than repay one for going to hear him. His other selections are also very fine, and will prove a rare treat to all who go.

—ASTOR HOUSE, NEW YORK, best accommodations, reduced prices.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTISS & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last night stood at 33 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a m. to-day at 23 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a m. at 25 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 37 degrees above. Cloudy.

One year ago to-day at 7 o'clock a. m. the thermometer stood at 33 degrees above, and at 2 o'clock p. m. at 44 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, for the last region, upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, falling barometer, increasing south to west winds, and warmer, partly cloudy weather, probably followed by rain or snow in the first two districts, and followed in the last two by rising barometer and northwest winds.

WANTED IN BELOIT.

Last evening Marshal Russell received a telegram from the officers at Beloit bidding him arrest a young man named Thomas McDonald, if he could find him in Janesville, as he was wanted to answer to the charge of having entered a house there and stolen $30. The Marshal found him last night sleeping at his father's home in the Fifth ward and locked him up in jail until the Beloit officers came for him to-day.

GUARDING THE WOOD FILE.

Those in charge of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad company's wood yard here propose to put a stop to the stealing which has been going on there. Yesterday John Daily, a mere boy, was arrested charged with stealing five sticks of wood, and to-day a number of other children were arrested, their ages varying from ten to fourteen years. Those arrested to-day were Thomas Leasby, Kate Sullivan, Nellie Murphy and Nellie Welch. The cases have been postponed until the 6th of December.

MYERS FOUND GUILTY.

The Myers case, in which some of Janesville's lawyers have been interested, has been on trial in Madison, on a change of venue from Monroe, and last evening the jury brought in a verdict finding him guilty of subornation of perjury. It will be remembered that Myers was arrested and tried for rape, and on behalf of the defense on this trial two witnesses testified that they saw Myers and the little girl peeping through a knothole in the barn, and that there was no such offense committed as charged. Myers was acquitted on that trial, but the witnesses then confessed that Myers had hired them for $25 apiece to swear falsely. It was upon this charge that Myers has now been found guilty.

SOCIAL PLEASURES.

The Brilliant Party Given At Cannon's Hall Last Evening.

Last evening at Cannon's hall there was a brilliant assemblage of ladies and gentlemen as ever gathered at any social event in this city, the occasion being a soiree given by Miss Julia Wilson, Mr. and C. E. Moseley, and Mrs. F. C. Cook. The invitations numbered four hundred, besides those sent to friends living at a distance, some of whom, unable to be present, sent their well wishes and regrets over the wires. Of those of the local social circles honored by these invitations the larger part responded in person. The guests were cordially and gracefully received and were soon gathered in little groups, at the card tables or engaged in exchanging greetings with other guests, all seeming to have caught from their reception the happy assurance that they were expected to seek such enjoyment as best pleased each. It was a full dress party and all of the arrangements were in keeping, but yet so happily as it managed that all were placed at ease and there were none of the unpleasantness of a too chilly formality. The display of dress on the part of the ladies was marked by richness and taste, and some elaborate toilets were presented, which gave a brilliancy to the party, yet devoid of all seeming gaudiness. Few such social gatherings in any city present so many new and pleasing costumes as appeared last evening.

The friendly chatting and social games were early broken into by the serving of refreshments, but the sociability was continued no less enjoyably by the guests as they gathered about the well spread tables, where were bountiful supplies of substantial and tempting delicacies. The wants of each guest were supplied as attentively as though it was merely a small tea party where the hostess could attend personally to each. There was no lack, no awkward balks or careless omission. At the finish many of the guests repaired to the gallery, while others remained on the main floor. The tables were speedily removed, and Smith & Tuckwood's orchestra soon opened their repertoire, and to the stirring airs, the feet of many who delighted in the dance, happily responded. The hall presented a brilliant appearance. Brightly lighted, attractive in its adornments, the assemblage of richly dressed guests, some chatting some sitting in little groups, while others moved gracefully to the merry music—the scene was indeed a brilliant one, and on all sides was betokened the enjoyment which all felt. The remaining portion of the evening was thus joyously passed, and the "good nights" were wreathed with many honest expressions of personal satisfaction at having been among the honored guests. The affair was conducted admirably, and nothing was left undone to render the evening a most happy one.

THE READINGS.

The following is the programme for Prof. Cumneck's readings at Cannon's hall, Nov. 24th:

CAREER OF A JANESVILLE BOY.
Many here remembers Dennis C. Guernsey, a son of Mrs. O. Guernsey, of this city, and his friends have watched with great interest his career since he left this city for the West. We therefore gladly give space to the following which appears in the Daily Post, published at Seattle, Washington Territory:

HON. DENNIS C. GUERNSEY.
One of the members from Columbia county was born in Janesville Wis. in 1845. He received a high school education in the place of his nativity. In the winter of 1863 he enlisted in the Union army and remained with it until the close of the war. He was one of the number who gallantly fought a thoroughfare for Freedom and her train, six, miles in latitude, three hundred to the main, while marching through Georgia with Sherman. Mr. Guernsey remains a soldier. His discharge from the army has released him from no obligation to his country. His sentiments are those of a soldier, and his appearance and conduct does not belie them. His personal appearance is prepossessing, just above the medium height, straight as an arrow, large and well set shoulders, an easy and graceful step, with his head thrown well back, are among the generalities of his physique. On a close inspection you find that he has brown hair, a heavy brown mustache, a large grey eye, that with this owner is quite suggestive of a dare devil spirit, an eye that is beaming with overflowing merriment, but which is nevertheless warning you that upon necessity Mr. Guernsey can be terribly in earnest. His forehead is high and receding, his chin prominent and heavy. Every lineament of his features, and every action of the man betokens a character of strong normal force but of devil-may-care independence. Mr. Guernsey came to the Territory in 1871, and immediately engaged in business. He is now located at Dayton and is the senior member of the firm of Guernsey & Wolfe, who are engaged in merchandising. He was the first auditor of Columbia county and since has held the position of County Treasurer, until his election to the present position. In politics he is a Republican, and declares that "marching through Georgia" made him one.
